

Casey Gara is a Los Angeles-based screenwriter, director, and creative professional in the film and television industry. Currently, he serves as a Writer's Assistant at 260 Degrees Entertainment, where he supports Writer/Director David E. Talbert in the development and completion of a diverse array of film and TV projects.

Previously, Casey worked as a videographer at Durango Effect, producing and editing content for a variety of projects, and has also served as a production assistant on major commercial productions for brands such as Verizon, Chevy, Hyundai, and DJI Drones. His experience also includes script analysis as a reader for the Fox Entertainment Writer's Incubator.

Originally from Illinois, Casey moved to Los Angeles to attend Loyola Marymount University, where he graduated Magna Cum Laude in 2021 with a major in Film & TV Production and a Minor in Screenwriting. In his free time, Casey enjoys watching films and traveling.